

Larry Burtness has broad experience with educational technology and with compact disc development. He is the world's foremost authority in the application of Linkway technology. As President of Alchemedia, Inc., Larry has provided development and consulting services for multimedia applications and CD-ROM discs for IBM, The Multimeanings Company, Optilearn, Laser Learning Technologies, Videodiscovery, Lawrence Berkeley Labs and many other clients. Larry served as an Educational Technology Consultant to International Business Machines and works with teachers nationwide to give them confidence in the use of technology in their classrooms.

When he's not slaving over a hot computer, Larry might be found racing one of his motorcycles, fishing for the elusive salmon, playing (or coaching) basketball, or at the theatre with his wife, Laurel.

Larry can be contacted at Alchemedia, Inc, Port Angeles, WA 98221 or at <http://www.alchemediainc.com>.